ON THE COVER

Tony Pawlik (left) and Ed Jones are senior defensive backs at Rutgers who figure to be two of the best in their trade (stealing passes) in the East. On the ground in front of them are nineteen footballs, the combined number that the pair has stolen in the two years that each has been a member of the varsity. They are looking forward to the 1974 season along with their teammates and coaches. For more about the prodigious pass-picking pair, turn to page 5.

TICKET INFORMATION

Season reserved seats at $30.00 for all five home games will be available until October 9. Junior season reserved seats for those under 19 years of age are available at a cost of $15.00. The new Family Plan permits two adults and up to three children to sit together in the end zone at a cost of $25.00 for the two adults and $1.00 for each child. For a family of five, the average cost per ticket for the season would be just over $1.00 . . . incredible. General admission for the Air Force game will be $3.50 and $3.00 for all other home games. For the price of individual reserved seats for all the games on the 1974 schedule see the next page. Reserved parking spaces for the season can be bought for $10.00 and unreserved spaces for all five home games for $5.00.

PICK A PAIR FOR '74 STARDOM

PAWLIK

JONES

Two people in the Scarlet secondary may give pause to opponent passers in 1974. They'll proudly pick a peck of poorly passed pigskins. They may appear as monsters out of the deep (secondary) to the opposition's quarterbacks, perhaps best resembling swift octopi, but they are really Tony Pawlik and Ed Jones, top contributors to the 1973 total of 27 record-setting interceptions.

Similar in size, Pawlik at 6-1, 195, and Jones at 6-0, 190, the two senior defenders have much in common. Pawlik was a second team all-state performer at Manville High School and Jones an all-stater at Middletown Township. Both were offensive starfouts, Pawlik at quarterback and Jones at halfback.

Both also were once considered as backfield mates of "JJ" Jennings, last year's national scoring leader. However, both bypassed that particular honor preferring to play on defense and both quickly rising to recognition as top-flight defenders. Jones picked up All-East honors last season and Pawlik ranked second nationally in interceptions per game.

Together for the first time in 1973, Jones and Pawlik accounted for a dozen interceptions, Pawlik picking off eight from his free safety spot. Jones, who is considered one of the most gifted cornerbacks in Scarlet football history, established the reputation of "don't throw at him unless you have to," in 1971.

But, as true defensive backs, the pair do more than intercept passes. Both strong, sure tacklers, they also return kickoffs and punts. Statistics reveal Pawlik the better at punt returns and Jones the better kickoff returner, though they have shared the responsibilities.

Pawlik fielded 14 punts last year and parlayed them into 157 return yards, better than 11 yards a shot, the best a weaving 67-yarder against Connecticut. On the play, Pawlik pranced twice that distance, bringing the ball to the Huskies' 15 from which Rutgers scored the go-ahead TD in the first half. Pawlik zoomed 30 yards on his only kickoff return of the season in the Princeton game.

Jones, who thinks of himself as the team's "old man," recalled his excellence as a running back with 16 kickoff returns in 1971. His five returns for 90 yards last year pushed his career total to 21 for a 405-yard total, nearly 20 yards on the average. His lone punt return in 1971 was a 26-yarder against Lehigh. Last year, he returned three punts.

Jones' "old man" tag (he is 22) comes from the fact that he sat out the 1972 season with an injured shoulder, a pre-season mishap following his sophomore year and his phenomenal conversion to the defense.

Pawlik, like Jones who ran in the same frosh backfield with Jennings, was given the opportunity to try the fullback position prior to last season. The experiment was short-lived, however, and the defensive pair are adamant in their desire to "hit, rather than be hit."

High on defense, Pawlik and Jones are articulate about their roles in the Rutgers secondary.

Tony credits a strong defensive line for his 1973 achievements.

"My interceptions came mainly on roll-outs, and because of the tremendous pressure of the defensive line, the passes were hurried and my job was basically easy. It's great personal feeling to intercept a pass. That's the idea of the defense — to turn the ball over to the offense, and, if possible, to give it to them with good field position."

Ed, who returned the initial 1973 kickoff against Lehigh after a 12-month layoff, vividly recalls another moment of truth in that game — the first pass thrown into his area. He intercepted it to set the stage for a Rutgers drive that resulted in the season's first score.

"It had been a long time since I had covered anyone in a real game, and I was anxious for the ball to be thrown into my area. When it came, I was lucky we were in a zone coverage and luckier still to be able to intercept it."

No matter how Pawlik and Jones play down their roles, Rutgers is fortunate to have men of their stature in the secondary this year. Their presence should make the Scarlet defense the strong suit in 1974 and opponents will have to think twice before putting the ball in the air.

QUESTIONS TO BE

Who will replace "JJ" Jennings, Rutgers' record-breaking tailback who led the nation in scoring last fall? Who is going to be calling the signals on offense? Who is going to replace the 13 graduated starters and 21 lettermen? What role will the freshmen play in 1974?

The solution to these and other problems faces head football coach Frank Burns who is in his second season after leading the team to a 6-5 record last year.

Who'll replace "JJ"

The holder of nine Rutgers rushing, scoring and total offense records, Jennings will be replaced not with a single individual but with a new offense. Gone is last year's I. Enter the Winged-T with a more balanced, exciting attack. Jennings carried the ball on over 50% of all of the Scarlet's rushing plays in 1973.

"Hopefully, we can win while we're getting our units in order," says Burns, "but there's no denying that we will miss the seniors, many of whom were regulars for three years."

Quarterback is a position with no sure bets for the starting nod. There are two senior lettermen, Steve Havran and John Piccirillo who should have an edge, though. Havran started four games in 1973 and Piccirillo passed for 200 yards against Air Force in his only start. Piccirillo averaged 38 yards as the Scarlet's regular punter last year, but if he is tapped as the starting quarterback, he may be rested as punter in favor of Steve Simek, another quarterback candidate.

Bert Kosup, who helped guide the sub-varsity to an 8-1 record, missed spring drills while playing baseball, but coaches still like his chances of taking the number one QB spot come fall practice. Another sub-varsity performer, John Danowski, is in the picture.

Andy Tighe, a guard who was named to the All-East team along with Jennings in his Junior season, is one of the offensive front's key losses. Dale Sipos, a 1972 letterman, is slated for Tighe's old berth. The only other experienced linemen will be centers Bruce Montigny and Andy Zdobylak and guard Art Thompson. Lettermen Jerry Guglielmo and Dave Norton, a junior and senior respectively, are the top tackle candidates. Tight end is wide open.

Tighe will also be missed as the number two scorer behind Jennings. He kicked points after and field goals, and although this assignment will not be settled until the fall, Kosup may get a chance to use his toe. If not Kosup, senior cornerback Andy Farkas could be the man. Farkas has been practicing to improve his accuracy on long range field goals and is consistent on PAT's.

The defense looks sound with six returning starters and lettermen at all but one position, that being middle guard, a new position in the scheme that replaces the middle linebacker slot.

"We have 21 returning lettermen, although some of them didn't play enough for us to consider them experienced," Burns says. "We are going to have to depend on some of the graduates of the sub-varsity to step in and mature in a hurry. Outstanding freshmen will have a chance to play regularly."

ANSWERED IN 1974

By his own admission, Burns was very satisfied with the past recruiting season. Concentrating on retaining some of the Garden State's wealth of high school talent, the Rutgers coaching staff signed 22 of its 24 scholarship recipients in New Jersey. "Among the men we've recruited this year," Burns says proudly, "are a number we feel are of the calibre to play immediately for us."

Spring practice, which is used generally to determine who plays where the best, was something of an enigma to the coaches because of the high number of injuries, especially to the offensive line candidates, and the absences of several athletes involved in spring sports. Thus, the final assessment of personnel will come this fall . . . at The Peddie School.

The stars of 1974 could be Ed Jones and Tony Pawlik, both outstanding defensive backs. Jones, a one-time tailback who prefers defense, is a gifted senior cornerback who complains when the opposition doesn't throw his way. Pawlik, a senior free safety, was second nationally in interceptions in 1973. Jones and Pawlik were among the 15 Scarlet Knights that contributed to a school record 27 interceptions.

Among the returning regulars are defensive ends Nate Toran and Dwight Lipscomb and linebackers Tom Holmes and Andy Mazer, who started at strong safety last fall. Toran is a sophomore, Lipscomb and Holmes are juniors and Mazer is a senior.

Sophomore John Alexander and senior Paul Krasnavage loom as starters at defensive tackle and middle guard will be manned by Steve Hoffman, a junior.

George McLaren will take Mazer's place at strong safety and Andy Farkas will be moved up as a first line cornerback. Both McLaren and Farkas are seniors.

Bill Bolash, who ran, caught and blocked well from his flanker position last year, has been moved to halfback. The senior letterman is the only starter returning to the 1974 backfield. The other starters will come from among Curt Edwards, a junior fullback who played behind Jennings at tailback and was the leading rusher in the spring game; senior Paul Marcus, an experienced fullback; power running Jeff Greczyn, a sophomore fullback; and sophomore speedster Mark Twitty at halfback.

The 11-game schedule presents Burns' men with both a challenge and an incentive. It gets underway with three straight road games before the first of five home contests. Air Force will be the top attraction on the home slate and a season finale at Hawaii will highlight the away schedule. William and Mary returns to the schedule after an absence of 17 years.

"We'll have to work very hard to have a good record," says Burns. "but we've had great enthusiasm and dedication from our athletes. Despite our losses in personnel, I'm confident that we're going to keep our program moving forward in 1974."

LETTERMEN LOST: 21 (14 starters, 9 on offense, 5 on defense)

FRANK BURNS Head Football Coach

The man at the head of the Rutgers football program is 23 years experienced as a coach, and his first association with Scarlet football dates back 27 years. He quarterbacked the "Golden Era" teams of the late forties, coached Rutgers quarterbacks to records surpassing his own, and as the head coach for the first time last year, directed the Scarlet to another of its winning seasons.

This man is Frank Burns, completely in control of the program but unpretentious about his role as head, completely dedicated to making Rutgers a powerful team composed of Garden State men. Burns is a man of accomplishment but, at the same time, a man of modesty. His coaches and his players respect and admire him for these reasons.

As a quarterback at Rutgers from 1945 through 1948, he established passing records, picking up the nickname, "Flinging Frank." He was selected to the All-East team twice, received honorable mention on most of the All-America teams, played in the 1949 East-West Shrine game and was named the "Most Valuable Player" in the New York Herald-Tribune All-Star Game.

The teams he directed as a quarterback and linebacker compiled 27 wins out of 34 contests. "The one thing I remember strongly about the teams I played on," relates Burns, "is that we never felt we would lose. We had a great attitude toward winning."

That's the same sort of philosophy he hopes to instill in today's players. But he also believes that the "winning" confidence comes through hard work and concentration on details. His players appreciate this fact and know that he will be consistent in the administration of the "Burns" policy.

His previous coaching assignments at Rutgers were as freshman coach (1949-50), freshman head coach (1953-54), varsity backfield coach (1955-56 and 1961-67) and offensive coordinator and associate head coach under John Bateman (1968-72). In between, he served in 1951 and 1952 as head coach of Johns Hopkins, at the time one of the youngest head coaches in the nation at 23, and following the 1956 season, he took over as head coach at Chatham (NJ) High School, a school which had not been represented in football in 25 years.

Known for his prowess as an offensive player and coach, he surprised one writer last year by saying that if he had played at the time of two platoon football, he would have preferred playing on defense. In fact, he was named MVP in the 1949 College All-Star game with NFL champion N.Y. Giants for his 17 tackles as a linebacker. The All-Stars won, by the way, 28-13.

Burns was also an outstanding catcher for the Scarlet baseball teams.

Following his graduation, he played professional football briefly before returning to coach at Rutgers.

A native of Roselle Park, Burns, a widower, resides in Berkeley Heights. He has three children, Frank, Jr., 22, a recent graduate of Nichols College and a Division III college quarterback, All-East, Thomas, 20, a student at Rutgers; and Barbara Jean, 18, a recent graduate of Governor Livingston High School.

ROBERT NASO

Defensive Coordinator

Bob captained his Sewanhaka High School football and lacrosse teams and has had the great athletic fortune to be involved impressively in the two sports since that time. At Rutgers, he was a gifted lacrosse player, earning second team All-America honors as a midfielder and playing center and blocking back on the single wing football teams from 1956 to 1958. His coaching career began immediately — as the Scarlet lightweight coach and lacrosse assistant and, after a brief stint in the Army, as varsity lacrosse coach and head of the freshman football program in 1961. His frosh football record for three seasons was 11-4-1 and, following four years as defensive coach, he assumed his current post as defensive coordinator in 1968. Relinquishing his lacrosse duties last spring after 13 seasons and a 95-59-1 career record, Naso can view with pride the production of teams that were frequently ranked in the top ten nationally. He served three times as assistant coach of the North team in the annual North-South lacrosse game and, in 1969, as head coach. Naso, his wife, Carol, and their three daughters, Andrea, 13; Cynthia, 10; and Felicia, 6, live in Piscataway.

BILL SPERANZA

Offensive Backs Coach

Bill has experienced perfect records both as a player and as a coach and in his first season as director of Rutgers offensive backfield had the happy fortune of letting "JJ" Jennings loose every weekend. It's unlike the young coach to want any credit for the achievement of last year's national scoring leader, but it's also certain that Bill and "JJ" spent a lot of time together. A 1962 Rutgers alumnus, Speranza was the starting signalcaller on the Scarlet's undefeated team of 1961 and gathered note as a "gameplan quarterback." In two of his seasons as freshman coach, Rutgers had perfect 5-0 records, in 1965 and 1967, his game plans producing a 15-5 mark. Bill took charge of the defensive backs in 1968 and his crews enjoyed exemplary success. As a Scarlet athlete, Speranza played on football teams that compiled 24 victories in 27 games and, as a baseball catcher and outfielder, helped his squads to a 40-14 mark. The Phillipsburg, Pa., native, who underwent conversion from a single wing tailback to a T-formation QB, is coaching the winged T after a year as an I-man. It figures that he will continue to do well. Bill and his wife, Linda, live in Somerville.

JAMES TAIGIA

Offensive Line Coach

"Chief" picked up the nickname as a hard-nosed ex-sailor on the fine post-war teams of the late forties, teams led by Frank Burns, and Scarlet linemen since 1968 have continued its use out of respect for his chiefly wisdom and insistent methods. An extensive scholastic coaching career preceded Taigia's appointment at Rutgers. The long-time resident of Highland Park served initially at Rahway, then at Piscataway, at Hillside and returned to Rahway for two seasons before coming to the Rutgers staff. "Chief" has the knack of stimulating young linemen to giving everything in the sometimes unsung task of blocking. Like others on the Scarlet staff, Taigia likes to take to the golf links, often with short pants of unbelievable colors. Unfortunately, his game suffers because of his dedication to football and the job of developing blockers. A former basketball official, Taigia was a tough two-way guard during the 1947-48-49 seasons, helping his teams to 8-1, 7-2 and 6-3 records. He and his wife Ruth reside in New Brunswick.

PETER SAVINO

Defensive Back Coach

As a Scarlet player, Pete was considered a potentially outstanding coach and his recognition as the first recipient of the New Brunswick Touchdown Club Trophy confirmed the impact his performance, leadership and dedication had on his teammates. That award followed a three-year Rutgers career in which he saw service as a quarterback, wide receiver and defensive halfback. In his four coaching years at his alma mater (he missed the 1970 season due to his military commitment), Pete continues to have great rapport with men who play football. A resident of Belle Mead, Pete starred at quarterback for Perth Amboy High, where he also played basketball and baseball and was a member of the track team. At the close of his senior season at Rutgers, Pete was named as a freshman assistant, in 1969, spent six months in the Army and returned as head frosh coach for two years, winning seven of 13 games. Last season, he became the varsity defensive backfield coach. His crew intercepted 27 passes to set a Scarlet record. Pete and wife Jill have a daughter, Suzanne Gail, 1½.

TED COTTRELL

Defensive Line Coach

Having split four seasons professionally with the Atlanta Falcons and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers as a linebacker, Ted has cast Canadian and southern soil aside and teaches possession of Rutgers territory. Last year's defensive line was quickly won over by Ted's winning personality (helped some, perhaps, by Ted's imposing size) and his tactics were readily adopted. A task master who spreads rewards tactfully, Cottrell enters his second season at Rutgers after serving for a season as assistant football coach and track coach at his alma mater, Delaware Valley College, where he won All-Middle Atlantic Conference honors three times, 1966-67-68. He was selected to the college division second team All-American team in 1967. The Scarlet defensive line is traditionally one of the closest knit of the units during the football season and Cottrell faithfully maintained the custom in his debut. A factor is his direction of calisthenics, aimed specifically at his defense, the members of which complete the exercises with much vocal support. He will be the leader of a youth movement this fall, a job he approaches with fine dedication. Ted lives in New Brunswick with his wife, Barbara.

PAUL MORAN

Sub-Varsity and Varsity Receivers Coach

Paul's middle name is Kent and he came to Rutgers after two seasons on the football staff at Kentucky, but C's have played a larger part in the young coach's career. Born in Chicopee Falls, Mass., he attended Cathedral High School in Springfield, Mass., is a graduate of Central Connecticut State where his team lost only three games during his tenure, and, he served for three years as an assistant at the University of Connecticut. Paul's athletic background includes football, baseball and hockey, the latter two now having given way to great enthusiasm for golf. The former history and political major is an avid reader. His previous coaching duties have included the defensive line, defensive ends and linebackers and his current work is with the varsity's receivers. He will serve for the second year as head coach of the sub-varsity and is justly proud of their 8-1 record in 1973. He and his wife Beverly, of Lewisburg, W. Va. celebrated the birth of their first child, a daughter, early in July. The family currently resides in East Brunswick.

Frederick E. Gruninger
Director of Athletics

Entering his second year as director of Rutgers' 23-sport athletic program, Fred Gruninger is continuing in his efforts to better acquaint the citizens of New Jersey with what their State University is doing in athletics. "We have been working to make the program totally effective in each sport without exception," Gruninger says. "Each of the six New Brunswick-Piscataway colleges is involved, supporting the varsity teams and benefiting from numerous opportunities to participate."

Prior to 1973, Gruninger was assistant, then associate athletic director under Al Twitchell for nine years, starting in 1964, when he moved to the athletic administration after a five-year stint in the alumni relations department.

Gruninger is a 1953 Rutgers alumnus who played football and baseball as an undergraduate and later excelled in golf, turning professional for a brief period. Until last spring, when administrative duties intervened, he served as Rutgers golf coach and posted an outstanding record of 109-30-2.

A native of East Orange and a resident of Martinsville, Gruninger earned his master's degree from Rutgers in 1961. He served a number of years as a high school teacher and coach. He is married and the father of three children.

Donald Heilman, Assistant Director

Bud Heilman combines duties as assistant athletic director and coordinator of recruiting. He joined the Rutgers staff in 1966 after six years as head football coach at Kutztown State and was line coach for five years. He is an alumnus of West Chester State.

Otto H. Hill, Business Manager

A member of the Rutgers staff since 1947, Otto Hill was appointed business manager of athletics in 1961. A 1942 graduate of Rutgers, he served in the Army and Air Force during World War II returning to earn his master's degree in 1947. He was a football assistant through 1955 and served as freshman and later varsity swimming coach until 1961, when he assumed his present assignment.

Supporting Personnel

Faculty Representative, Malcolm G. McLaren, Jr., chairman of the Ceramics Department; Ticket Manager, Mrs. Gertrude M. Skladany; Team Physician, Dr. Hyman B. Copleman; Team Dentist, Dr. Joel Fertig; Head Trainer, Andrew Sivess; Custodian of Equipment, John Powers.

RUTGERS FOOTBALL ON THE AIR

Tony Marano, "the Voice of Rutgers Sports", will be covering the action of Rutgers football for his 23rd year, and when he sits down behind the microphone in the opening game with Bucknell, it will be his 206th consecutive game — a perfect score for the manager of WCTC (1450 AM) and WQMR (98.3 FM) Radio in New Brunswick. WCTC and WQMR, of course, will again be bringing all of the Scarlet Knight games to a coverage area of well over a million people in Central Jersey. Even the Hawaii game, November 30, which will be played at 7:30 P.M. Hawaii time (1:30 A.M. Eastern time), will be broadcast live. There will also be a taped rebroadcast the following Sunday morning for those fans not ambitious enough to forego their sleep in the early morning hours. There will be one first on the Rutgers broadcasts, and that will be the arrival of Lee Shirvanian, WCTC's sports director for the past 6 years, to the color mike. In addition to his regular sports shows, Shirvanian has been doing basketball play-by-play for the area high schools and for Rutgers on an alternate basis. Marano and Shirvanian, the Scarlet's team in the press box.

FARKAS

ANDY FARKAS, 6-2, 185, senior cornerback from Lancaster, PA. Moved up to the first string during spring drills and may see duty as the Scarlet's place kicker . . . Intercepted two passes last fall and kicked two extra points, his first for Rutgers . . . A former three-sport star at Hempfield H.S., he is one of the few married players on the team . . . Andy has been in organized ball since he was seven and is now looking forward to his best year . . . A Physical Education major who hopes to go on to Medical School.

DAVE FIGUEROA, 6-1, 180, sophomore cornerback from Hoboken. Dave looms as a leading challenger for a position in the four man secondary, but will have to dethrone a letterman for a start . . . His brother, Angelo, a 1974 graduate, played on the team . . . Performed well in the spring despite a sprained thumb . . . Had an excellent year on the 8-1 sub-varsity . . . Lettered in track and football in high school . . . Will select a major in Liberal Arts.

JOHN GONSOR, 6-1, 200, junior tight end from Holyoke, MA. Being from the same hometown as departed star "JJ" Jennings, Gonsor hopes to uphold the town's reputation for producing grid stars . . . Made all-city and all-region at Holyoke H.S. . . . He is a converted fullback in the fight for position in the two deep . . . Down-to-earth individual majoring in Agricultural Business.

JEFF GRECZYN, 6-2, 200, sophomore fullback from Hightstown. A powerful runner who gained 56 yards on 11 carries in the spring game . . . Could be one of the regulars in '74 although he is listed behind Edwards in the depth chart . . . Made all-league and all-area as well as being named MVP while at Hightstown H.S. . . . "Gretch," as he likes to be called, is majoring in Physical Education.

JERRY GUGLIEMO, 6-2, 220, junior tackle from Pleasantville, NY. Started the last three games of 1973, but a knee operation kept him out of spring practice . . . Still, coaches feel confident that he'll be back at No. 1 this fall . . . Made all-league, all-county and All-State as a linebacker on the Pleasantville H.S. team that was ranked No. 1 in New York after shutting out all of its opponents . . . Physical Education major.

CLIFF HARRIS, 6-0, 185, junior halfback from Somerset. With no previous college experience, Cliff bolted into prominence in the spring and wound up in the two-deep . . . Covered 45 yards on seven carries in the spring game, including a 31-yarder . . . A Livingston student majoring in Social Studies.

STEVE HAVRAN, 6-1, 190, senior quarterback from Somerville. Steve was thrown into a starting assignment early last year and wound up with four starts to his credit . . . Wound up third in passing stats with 272 yards and one TD in 17 completions . . . Played on the golf team this past spring while at the same time trying to learn the new offense . . . All-State and all-conference in football, all-county in basketball and all-conference in baseball and golf at Bridgewater East H.S. . . . Business Administration major.

DON HEILMAN, 5-10, 175, junior halfback from Spotswood. One of the fastest men on the team, Don was the second top kickoff returner in 1973 along with Ed Jones . . . He was used sparingly at wide receiver last year, but should see more action in the backfield after earning a spot in the two-deep in the spring . . . An outstanding scholar-athlete at South River H.S., he was a member of that school's team that won the Central Jersey Championship in 1969 with an 8-1 record . . . His father, Bud, is a former assistant football coach and current assistant athletic director at Rutgers. An Environmental Science major at Cook.

STEVE HOFFMAN, 6-5, 205, junior middle guard from North Bellmore, NY. Steve began the 1973 season as a reserve defensive end, but forged his way into a starting role this spring at a new position to the defense this year . . . Excellent on pass rush . . . Hopes to be stronger in the fall . . . Made the all-division and second team all-county selections as a member of the Massapequa H.S. team that won its divisional championship . . . Majors in Agricultural Business at Cook College.

TOM HOLMES, 6-1, 200, junior linebacker from Miami, FL. A starter and letterman at his position as a sophomore and one of only eight two-year lettermen on the team, he will be counted on as one of the leaders of the defense . . . Played defensive end as a freshman . . . Intelligent, steady player . . . Copped one aerial in 1973 . . . Studying an Engineering curriculum.

ED JONES, 6-1, 190, senior cornerback from Navesink. Was second in interceptions in 1973 to Tony Pawlik and now has a career total of seven pilfers to which he hopes to add more this season . . . A sure bet for all-star honors this season . . . Was second in kickoff returns in 1973, first in 1972 . . . A former All-State two-way back at Middletown Township H.S., he is hopeful of a pro career after graduation . . . A fifth-year player who missed what was to be his second year of eligibility because of a shoulder injury that required an operation . . . Geography is his major.

BERT KOSUP, 5-11, 170, sophomore quarterback from Edison. A three-sport standout at J.P. Stevens H.S., Bert premiered as the quarterback of the sub-varsity last fall that posted an 8-1 record . . . Performed well enough in the spring for the coaches to give him starting consideration . . . His leadership capabilities were evidenced by his being selected captain in football, basketball and baseball in high school . . . An Education major at Livingston who hopes to go into coaching.

PAUL KRASNAVAGE, 6-3, 235, senior defensive tackle from Norwalk, CT. After playing in a reserve capacity at linebacker for the past two years, "Kras" won a starting assignment in the down position during spring drills . . . Started in two games last fall and intercepted a pass . . . His size and strength figure to help the Scarlet defensive front . . . A Cook College student majoring in Environmental Science.

PAUL LEWIS, 6-1, 190, junior linebacker from Linwood. One of the more aggressive players, size is his only handicap . . . A second team All-South Jersey and all-region at Mainland Regional H.S., he secured a spot in the two-deep during spring drills . . . Had an outstanding spring game . . . A Cook College student, he is majoring in Marine Science.

DWIGHT LIPSCOMB, 6-2, 195, junior defensive end from Plainfield. Another of the relocated defenders in the spring, this talented player started all but three games last season and was the first freshman to play varsity football since 1954 . . . A move to linebacker was contemplated in the spring but later abandoned . . . Finished the last two games of 1973 as a linebacker . . . MVP in football and track at Plainfield H.S. and made the all-county and all-area teams . . . One of the top personalities on the team, he once held hopes for a career in show business . . . Majoring in Business Administration at Livingston College.

TOM MANNON, 6-1, 220, senior defensive tackle from Stockton. Tom should be in the thick of the battle for a starting job at his position . . . Missed spring practice . . . One of top reserves last year . . . Good quickness and strength . . . Married . . . Named to the All-State and all-area teams among others while at South Hunterdon Regional H.S. where he played at six different positions during his career . . . Physical Education is his curriculum.

PAUL MARCUS, 5-10, 200, senior fullback from East Hartford, CT. After playing for two seasons as an I fullback, Paul will be faced with learning the new Winged-T offense this fall after missing practice to play baseball . . . Although he ranks third among the returning rushers, he will probably carry the ball more . . . He is exceptionally effective as a blocker . . . Could also be used as a punter having kicked a 43-yarder in his only 1973 attempt . . . Co-captained the East Hartford H.S., and also lettered in baseball and swimming . . . Biological Science major.

ANDY MAZER, 5-11, 195, senior linebacker from East Brunswick. Andy has started, except for his initial varsity game, every game for the past two years . . . Add to this the fact that he will be playing his third different position on the defense since beginning his sophomore season and you will understand why the coaches think he is one of the most gifted and flexible players on the team . . . Played strong safety last fall and intercepted one pass . . . A two-way end at East Brunswick H.S. where he earned second team All-State and first team all-county honors . . . Majoring in Physical Education.

GEORGE McLAREN, 5-8, 170, senior strong safety from Milford. Moved into the first string strong safety spot after Mazer's shift to linebacker in the spring . . . As a defensive back, he is breaking a family tradition set by his father and grandfather who were offensive backs at Rutgers and Pittsburgh respectively . . . His father, Dr. Malcolm McLaren is head of the Rutgers Ceramic Engineering Department and is Faculty Chairman of Athletics . . . His grandfather, whom he is named after, is a member of the Football Hall of Fame . . . Made all-county and all-conference at Delaware Valley Regional H.S. where he was MVP . . . Majoring in Biological Science.

STEVE McWILLIAMS, 6-0, 180, sophomore cornerback from Havertown, PA. A transfer student from Drexel, Steve possesses good speed . . . Learned quickly in the spring and put himself in the two deep picture . . . Undecided about his major.

JOHN MILLER, 6-4, 215, senior defensive tackle from East Stroudsburg, PA. Seems ready for a push into the two-deep picture after two years in a reserve role on the offense . . . A reliable performer who lettered in three sports at East Stroudsburg H.S. . . . Law School is in the future plans of this History major.

O'HALLORAN

PICCIRILLO

BRUCE MONTIGNEY, 5-11, 210, senior center from Wilmington, DE. Another of only eight returning double letter winners on the team, he will be the more experienced of two lettermen at his position . . . A starter as a sophomore and a junior, he missed spring practice because of knee surgery in the off-season . . . Excellent blocker with tremendous quickness . . . Still in the starting picture . . . Business Administration is his major.

JIM O'HALLORAN, 6-2, 215, sophomore middle guard from Succasunna. Wasted little time in spring practice putting his quickness and size to use in making a bid for a spot in the two-deep at the defense's new position . . . An all-conference defensive end at Bayley Ellard Regional H.S. in Madison . . . Plans a career in pharmacy.

TONY PAWLIK, 6-1, 195, senior free safety from Manville. After leading the team in interceptions for the past two seasons, Tony is only three away from the school career record of 14 set by John Pollock in 1968 . . . Second in the nation in steals in 1973 with 8 after being blanked in the first three games . . . Played freshman ball as a quarterback . . . Earned All-State, all-conference and all-county honors at Manville . . . One of the top all around athletes on the team . . . He is looking toward a future in professional football . . . Business Administration major.

ROBINSON

SIPOS

DAN PFABE, 6-1, 215, sophomore linebacker from Louisville, OH. One of the eight sophomores who were charted in the two-deep picture during spring drills . . . He made many all-star teams while at St. Thomas Aquinas H.S. including All-State . . . He also lettered in track in high school and set a school discus record . . . Undecided about his major subject.

JOHN PICCIRILLO, 5-9, 170, senior quarterback from Berkeley Heights. One of two lettermen contesting the starting spot, he is pleased with the new offense which is not too unlike the one he ran while at Governor Livingston Regional H.S. and Fork Union Military Academy in Virginia . . . "Pic" got one start last fall, at Air Force, in which he threw for 200 yards . . . He led the team in passing with 415 yards and was the No. 1 punter with a 58.0 yard average . . . Married . . . Majoring in Agricultural Business.

ED ROBINSON, 6-1, 190, junior defensive end from Newark. Ed was moved over to end after spending his sophomore year as an offensive back . . . He caught one pass and carried the ball for 24 yards in limited appearances . . . Will return as an experienced member on the specialty teams . . . Also lettered in basketball, and baseball at Shabazz H.S. (formerly South Side H.S.) . . . Pre-med student majoring in Biological Science.

DON ROCK, 6-4, 230, junior tackle from Wallington. After a year as a reserve on the varsity and a regular on the sub-varsity, the "Rock" indicated by his play in the spring that he was

STRYS

ready to challenge for a starting job . . . Neck injury kept him out of spring game . . . A three sport letterman at Wallington H.S., he made the all-conference football team twice as a defensive tackle and tight end . . . Has chosen to major in Liberal Arts.

NICK SAUTER, 6-5, 240, a sophomore tackle from Little Falls. One of only two sophomores on the offense pushing for a starting job . . . Played defense in 1973 . . . Only needs experience to become a regular . . . Made the all-league, all-county teams at Passaic Valley H.S. and was third team All-State . . . Also lettered in track and wrestling.

DALE SIPOS, 5-11, 205, senior guard from Lodi. Dale emerged as one of the leaders in the offensive front last fall, and despite the fact that he missed spring drills for academic reasons, he is expected to lead the Scarlet charge . . . Good speed as a pulling guard and is persistent in pass blocking . . . An all-county, all-area player at Lodi H.S. . . . Physical Education major.

JOHN STRYS, 6-1, 215, sophomore defensive end from Jefferson Township. In the two-deep picture during spring drills . . . Played on sub-varsity last year . . . Has good movement for his size . . . Earned all-conference, all-county and honorable mention All-State honors at Jefferson Township H.S. . . . Also voted to second team All-State and first team all-county in baseball . . . A Livingston student majoring in Social Studies.

LINWOOD TAYLOR, 6-1, 215, junior guard from Richmond, VA. Hampered by knee problems in his first two seasons at Rutgers, Linwood should have an outstanding year if he can stay healthy . . . An All-America selection at George Wythe H.S. as well as the recipient of other all-star honors, he has good range and determination . . . Majoring in Political Science with plans for law school.

JIM TEATOM, 5-10, 175, sophomore strong safety from Massapequa Park, NY. Started at this position on sub-varsity in 1973 . . . Lacrosse participation and knee injury hampered spring progress but still got in enough work to stay in two-deep picture . . . An All-State performer at Farmingdale H.S., he also earned letters in wrestling and lacrosse . . . Undecided on major.

ART THOMPSON, 6-3, 240, senior guard from Pleasantville. This self-reliant individual captured a No. 1 seed in spring drills before a broken thumb sent him to the sidelines . . . As a sophomore a knee injury similarly cut short his rise in the spring . . . He alternated as a starter last fall with Dale Sipos opposite graduated Andy Tighe . . . As a two-way lineman at Pleasantville H.S., he was named to a variety of honor teams including All-South Jersey . . . His older brother Oliver played basketball at Rutgers . . . With his mind undecided on either teaching or law after graduation, he is majoring in Social Studies.

NATE TORAN, 6-2, 220, sophomore defensive end from Perth Amboy. One of last year's truly outstanding freshmen, he moved into a starting slot midway through the season when Dwight Lipscomb was injured and he has maintained his lofty status . . . Has gained weight and added strength since his rookie season and seems destined to be one of the next Scarlet stars . . . Missed his senior year at Perth Amboy H.S. because of a shoulder injury, but earned all-county recognition as a junior and still holds the school shot put record . . . A Livingston student majoring in Biological Science, he hopes to go into pharmacy work.

SAM TURNER, 6-2, 235, senior tackle from Elizabeth. Injuries slowed his progress in the past . . . Had a knee operation this spring . . . He has experience at a position with only one other returning letterman . . . His team at Thomas Jefferson H.S. won the state title in 1969 and he was selected for the All-Greater Jersey team . . . With an eye toward teaching, he is majoring in English.

MARK TWITTY, 5-11, 175, sophomore halfback from Laurence Township. Jelled into a starting berth during the spring . . . Mark was the sub-varsity's chief pass target last year and was on the varsity kickoff team . . . Made All-South Jersey in football and baseball at Cherry East H.S. and was equally gifted as a musician, being selected to the All-Jersey Band for two years . . . Includes modern dance and ballet among his interests . . . A practical minded individual majoring in Business Administration.

TOM WELTER, 6-0, 180, junior split end from Fords. Originally slated for a place in the defensive secondary during his sophomore year, he will get a chance this year to use his speed for receptions instead of interceptions . . . Among his many all-star honors at Woodbridge H.S. were being named second team All-State . . . Prepped at Fork Union Military Academy in Virginia . . . Majoring in Social Studies.

JOE YACAGINSKY, 6-0, 180, senior split end from Binghamton. Moved into the lead at the wide-out during the spring after getting in considerable action as a reserve in 1973 . . . Blocks well and uses savvy and sticky hands to offset lack of speed . . . caught four passes for 57 yards in 1973 . . . An All-Conference performer at Binghamton North H.S.

ANDY ZDOBYLAK, 6-0, 230, senior center from Gary, IN. Really super in the spring, he turned in one of the best performances of any of the offensive linemen . . . Made an easy transition into a starting role last year when Bruce Montigny suffered a knee injury . . . Attended U.S. Military Academy Prep and transferred to Rutgers from Army after his sophomore season . . . An all-city operative at Len Wallace H.S. . . . Makes a hobby of motorcycles . . . Student of U.S. History.

RUTGERS STADIUM

Beautiful Rutgers Stadium has been a kind home to the Scarlet Knights as is evidenced by the 71% winning edge in games played there. It was dedicated November 5, 1938 with a 20-18 win over Princeton, Rutgers' first win over the Tigers since the nation's first intercollegiate game in 1869, which incidentally was played in New Brunswick.

Thirty-six football seasons have passed since its completion, and Rutgers Stadium has experienced 26 winning home seasons . . . not a bad record.

Over the years, 42 colleges and three service teams have visited the tree-lined bowl, and this year the Air Force team will be hosted for the first time. The Falcons could be playing in front of as many as 31,000 fans when they travel to The Banks, October 26 (23,000 permanent seats and 8,000 temporary).

Rutgers Stadium has been the site of many activities other than football over the years, though. The IC4A, Metropolitan and national AAU track meets have been held there in the past and last spring it was the site of the NCAA Division I Lacrosse Championship. Commencement ceremonies for the University have also been held on its venerated grounds.

Construction on the stadium began in 1935 with funds from the federal Works Progress Administration and Rutgers. Some 160,000 cubic yards of earth were taken from a narrow ravine at the site in Piscataway, and today the East and West stands are situated along the original sides of that ravine.

DID YOU KNOW . . . ?

Of this year's scholarship freshmen at Rutgers, 22 of 24 are from New Jersey. Almost 60% of the players on the 1974 pre-season roster are residents of the Garden State.

"JJ" Jennings, last year's collegiate scoring leader and Rutgers' record-setter, was the World Football League's inaugural "Player-of-the-Week."

Rutgers has won 71% of all games played on its home field, Rutgers Stadium, and has had eight undefeated home seasons (including two ties).

Senior Tony Pawlik was the second leading pass-interceptor in the nation last year with eight and needs but three this year to better the career record of 14 held by John Pollock (1966-68).

Five Rutgers' graduates are currently active in professional football. RB "JJ" Jennings '74 is a star with the Memphis Southmen (WFL), FB Steve Ferrughelli '71 is a starter with the Montreal Alouettes (CFL), QB Mike Yanceff is with the Philadelphia Bell (WFL), QB Leo Gasienica '73 was traded this summer by the N.Y. Giants to the Pittsburgh Steelers (NFL), and G. Andy Tighe '74 joined with the N.Y. Jets (NFL) during pre-season drills as a free agent.

1974 marks the 105th anniversary of Rutgers football. The first inter-collegiate football game, recognized nationwide, was played Nov. 6, 1869 in New Brunswick between Rutgers and Princeton. The Scarlet won the game, six goals to four.

Rutgers' only undefeated, untied season was in 1961 when, under John Bateman, the Scarlet Knights won nine.

Twelve of Rutgers' 17 head coaches since 1900 have had winning records.

The late Homer Hazel '25, an All-American in 1923 and 1924, was named to the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1951.

Paul Robeson '19, was Rutgers first All-American, a consensus pick as an end in 1917 and 1918. Alex Kroll '62, a unanimous pick as a center in 1961, was the last Rutgers player so honored.

The Scarlet football team will play its first game outside of the continental United States this fall as coach Frank Burns leads Rutgers to Honolulu, Hawaii, for a contest with the Rainbow Warriors of the University of Hawaii.

Rutgers will be playing in two trophy games this fall, The Centennial Trophy with Princeton and The Colgate-Rutgers Cup game with the Red Raiders.

After utilizing the "I" offense for three years, the Scarlet Knights will be operating out of a Winged-T set this year, thus becoming one of 16 major university teams changing from the "I."

BUCKNELL PROSPECTS: Stability at quarterback and along the offensive line are the chief concerns of Fred Prender whose Bisons were shut out in four games last year. The defense, which blanked two opponents and held three others to a single TD, returns strong and is led by All-East linebacker Larry Schoeneberger. Prender's objective is to find "one first string signal caller" to go with his three top returning rushers — halfbacks Bob Langan who gained 784 yards and Mike Pensabene, and fullback Rick Wardrop.

LAST GAME, 1971: Bucknell 14, Rutgers 13

Rutgers suffered its second consecutive one-point setback, losing the previous week to Columbia 17-16. The fifth of six straight losses in a 4-7 season was a last-minute defeat occasioned by a Bison TD with 21 seconds remaining. Bucknell's winning drive began at midfield and culminated with Mitch Farbstein, who had 155 yards, going in from the two. The Scarlet scores were by Leo Gasienica and Larry Robertson but Rutgers lost two fumbles and had two passes intercepted in addition to losing 74 yards in penalties.

SERIES RECORD WITH RUTGERS: Rutgers leads 6-4 in the series that began in 1932.

PRINCETON PROSPECTS: Bob Casciola hopes to overcome the problems that plagued Princeton in his first season — offensive size and depth and weakness at linebacker and in the defensive backfield. Casciola has returning strength in the offensive backfield which will feature again All-Ivy choice Walt Snickenberger, who rushed for 935 yards, and QB Ron Beible, who passed for 1,023. The Tiger defense, victim of a pair of one-point losses last year, returns strong as does the receiver corps. Tigers were 1-8 in 1973.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 39, Princeton 14

Centennial Trophy Game
Established in 1969 by the classes of 1938 at Rutgers and Princeton.

Rutgers pounced on four Tiger fumbles and intercepted four passes as "JJ" Jennings burst into the nation's scoring lead with five TD's before 27,000 Palmer Stadium fans. Rutgers led 19-0 after just 16 minutes as a result of two fumbles and an interception with each converted to scores by Jennings. His five tallies equalled the total by Bill Austin in 1958. The point total of 39 was the highest ever against Princeton, surpassing the 33 of 1971. The win evened the series at 8-8 for the last 16 years.

SERIES RECORD WITH RUTGERS: In football's oldest rivalry which began on Nov. 6, 1869, Princeton has won 52 of 64 games. Scores of the last 10 games:

HARVARD PROSPECTS: Celebrating its 100th anniversary and claiming it as the "real" football centennial (in rejection of the "soccer" game between Rutgers and Princeton in 1869), Harvard has great faith in its multiple set attack and 32 lettermen. Joe Restic admits problems on defense and concern about replacing QB Jim Stoeckel, 1973 Ivy Player of the Year. Six defensive starters were lost but the offensive backfield, less Stoeckel, returns intact. All-American Pat McNally is expected to continue an assault on Crimson receiving records.

LAST GAME, 1970: Harvard 39, Rutgers 9

The score is true as was the 478 yards amassed by Harvard. But, the process had elements of disbelief. Harvard held a 13-2 halftime lead on two field goals and a TD with 17 seconds remaining. If the Scarlet had settled for a safety, it might have been only 8-0. Rutgers got a safety later that might have been a TD and the Crimson went on to score 26 points in the last 10 minutes. Sam Picketts raced 54 yards on an interception for the only Rutgers TD and blocked the punt that gave the Scarlet its safety. Strange day at Harvard Stadium.

SERIES RECORD WITH RUTGERS: The series is tied at two, with Rutgers winning the first two games and Harvard the last two.

LEHIGH PROSPECTS: Fred Dunlap will miss QB Kim McQuilken, the nation's most successful passer, and may move the accent to a more balanced attack. The offensive line has to be rebuilt where four three-year starters have departed and the defense will be looking for six replacements. The loss of McQuilken will give his two backups, Joe Allea and Joe Sterrett, a chance to show their skills, particularly as running threats. But, rushing honors may go to soph Rod Gardner who starred over the last four games last year. The other backfield spots should go to last season's frosh standout, Ken Schmidt, and fullback Jim Gallagher.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 31, Lehigh 13

With three second half TD's by "JJ" Jennings, Rutgers gave Frank Burns a win in his coaching debut. The Scarlet defense shared the credit by allowing the Engineers, who had won two games at that point, just 10 yards in the third period and holding McQuilken to one completion in seven tries. The period also held a key play, a fumble recovery that was turned into a Jennings' TD and a 24-7 advantage. Steve Havran ran the Scarlet offense in his first varsity start, completing six passes for 106 yards.

1967, the Indians boast of fine running backs in a veer-option offense and a strong defensive line. The offensive line was hard hit by graduation and the defensive secondary awaits health reports on three knee injuries. QB Bill Deery will spearhead the veer-option for the third season and returning running backs John Gerdeman and Doug Gerhart make for the obvious strength of the Indian attack. All-American candidate Dick Pawlewicz handles multiple assignments from his "skilled end" position — a coaching tab put on the job that entails various duties and locations.

LAST GAME, 1957: William and Mary 38, Rutgers 7

The Indians held the Scarlet to 65 yards on the ground while running up 432 total yards to score more points than they had in six seasons. Scarlet All-American Bill Austin scored the only Rutgers TD halfway through the third period after W & M had taken a 26-0 lead. Austin had 39 yards in 15 carries and completed five of 16 passes. The Indians had five different scorers in the Cary Field contest.

three-year starter and the all-time yardage maker in service academy football history, is the key to Falcon success this season. Ben Martin, entering his 17th season as head coach, seeks his seventh straight winning record and improvement on the 6-4 mark last year. Martin's tenure is the second longest among service teams. The offensive and defensive lines return fairly intact but junior Chris Milodragovich is the only returning backfield starter. Defensive tackle Terry Young is 6-7, 225, had 15 QB sacks and 90 tackles last year and is said to be a man to watch.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Air Force 31, Rutgers 14

The first quarter of this game won't be recorded as one of the highlights in Rutgers football history as mistakes gave the Falcons a 17-0 lead. But the first trip west of the Mississippi saw the Scarlet come back to make it a game with two second period scores. However, with Haynie the chief architect, Air Force rebuilt and controlled the rest of the way. "JJ" Jennings was held under 100 yards for the first time and the passing game of John Piccirillo, not helped by the altitude, was erratic. It was Piccirillo's first varsity start and he connected on 14 of 29 tosses for 200 yards. It was the first Rutgers-Air Force game.

CONNECTICUT PROSPECTS: Larry Naviaux turned the UConn football fortunes around last season with an 8-2-1 record and gained a perch on top of the Yankee Conference. With "everyone shooting at us," Naviaux will be out to fill holes in the interior offensive line and find a replacement for fullback Eric Torkelson who destroyed the Scarlet and others last season. Lou Mancari, who had an amazing game against Rutgers as a freshman, returns to head the Huskie attack at quarterback. With the defensive line still strong, the only other patching jobs for Naviaux are at linebacker and in the secondary.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Connecticut 27, Rutgers 19

Playing almost error-free ball and getting impressive running from Torkelson, the Huskies vividly showed the strength of the Yankee Conference. Torkelson gained 164 yards on 29 carries, but two TD passes by Mancari overcame a 12-7 Scarlet halftime lead. Trailing 21-12, Rutgers stormed 75 yards for a score with 8:31 left. But, the aroused Scarlet team was stilled by a long slow UConn drive with Torkelson carrying on 10 of 12 plays. A Huskie score came with only 32 seconds on the clock.

SERIES RECORD WITH RUTGERS: In this series, dating back to 1940, Rutgers has won 10 of the 13 games played. Scores of the last 10 games:

LAFAYETTE PROSPECTS: With the return of seven defensive starters, including the entire line, Neil Putnam seems to have only offensive problems as he comes off a 6-3-1 season. Replacing three members of last year's offensive backfield is the major concern though the signal-calling duties will be in the capable hands of Mark Jones of Pennsville, N.J. Jones completed half of his passes in 1973. The big backfield loss is Tony Giglio, the Leopard MVP who had back-to-back 1,000-plus yardage years. Junior tackle Adam Piergallini will lead the offensive line and Mike Slattery, a junior rover-back from Camden, will head the defense.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Rutgers 35, Lafayette 6

After a scoreless first period in which "JJ" Jennings was held to just 16 yards, Rutgers came on to dominate the middle periods with Jennings scoring three times (perhaps a fourth which was credited to Curt Edwards on an end zone recovery). Free safety Tony Pawlik tied a Scarlet mark with three interceptions, getting a start on the eight he had for the season. "JJ" ended the day with 113 yards, Ron Shycko had 105 in 11 carries and Bill Bolash had 95 in five tries. The Scarlet defense, with Nate Toran getting his first start, held the Leopards to 115 ground yards and kept Giglio in check most of the game.

SERIES RECORD WITH RUTGERS: In this series dating back to 1882, Rutgers has won 39, lost 29 and tied one. This includes a Rutgers default in 1893. Scores of the last 10 games:

BOSTON UNIVERSITY PROSPECTS: Seventeen of Paul Kemp's returning lettermen are two-year vets and from them he expects to field experienced offensive and defensive lines as well as a cracker-jack running corps. The only area not replete with veteran players is the defensive secondary. In his debut season, Kemp posted three wins, quite an advance for a squad that had won only five of its previous 22 games. In addition, the 1973 Terriers dropped 111 points and nearly 1,000 yards off the opponent output a year earlier. Last year's two leading rushers, Joe Driscoll and George Katapodis, will be running behind the veteran line and will be joined by speedster Gary Taylor. The QB spot is unsettled between junior Mike Ryll and soph Cash Hoyt.

LAST GAME, 1972: Rutgers 51, Boston University 7

Though down 3-7 after a quarter, Rutgers exploded for its highest point total in four seasons, denying B.U. a first down after the first five minutes of play and not allowing a completion all day. On one of the foggiest days ever in the Stadium, "JJ" Jennings went over the 1,000-yard mark as reserves happily played in the mud for most of the second half. Highlights were Leo Gasienica's longest career romp, 58 yards on a sneak, and Gary Smolyn's 55-yard punt return for a TD.

SERIES RECORD WITH RUTGERS: Rutgers has won eight of the nine games played since the series began in 1923.

COLGATE PROSPECTS: Though the "heart of the wishbone is gone," according to Colgate sources, Neil Wheelwright figures to keep the formation despite the loss of Tom Parr and Mark van Eeghan. Between them, the Red Raider stars totalled over 8,000 yards and 59 TD's in three seasons. A number of other three-year vets have also departed leaving Wheelwright with a major rebuilding job. However, despite the loss of four starters up front, the offensive line appears the Colgate strong suit and the defensive front is also tough. Stripped by graduation, the defensive secondary needs reconstruction as does the offensive backfield, which returns only John Anderson at halfback. Retained as a coach, Parr, the most successful running QB in NCAA history, has the job of finding a successor, probably in Brian Applegate.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: Colgate 42, Rutgers 0

It was the wishbone at its best and Rutgers contributed heavily to the 19 records set or tied by the 1973 Red Raiders. The last thing the Scarlet did well was win the toss. After that, Colgate gained much revenge for the last six consecutive losses in Rutgers Stadium. Even winning the toss was a mistake as Tom Sweeney suffered a broken ankle on the kickoff return. (Sweeney returned to have a brilliant baseball season, hitting .434). It was the first Scarlet shutout in 39 games. Van Eeghan carried 48 times for 259 Colgate yards. Parr established the national career rushing mark for quarterbacks, a memorable 2,222.

HAWAII PROSPECTS: Facing a major college schedule for the first time this fall with a new head coach and a brand new offense, the Hawaiians will have to replace 14 starters which contributed to last year's 9-2 record. Coach Larry Price has installed the "Hula T," which is a four back offense that operates from multiple sets and has several different types of motion. The offensive backfield is blessed with depth and talent, but there will be some new faces in the interior offensive line. The entire defensive front was wiped out by graduation along with three of the four defensive backs.

FIRST GAME: Without a victory west of the Mississippi, Rutgers hopes to get its first on this historic trip off the mainland. Hope is that the football team will be inspired by a Scarlet basketball victory the day before. The game will be played in Honolulu Stadium, a field constructed in 1926, with a capacity of 23,000. Plans originally had the contest set for a new stadium but the park won't be ready until the Hula Bowl game. Hawaii will entertain eight other opponents this season, travelling only twice, to the University of the Pacific and to Nevada. Well over 1,000 Rutgers fans are expecting to make the trip to Honolulu for the Friday basketball game and the Saturday night football contest.

RUTGERS' ALL-AMERICANS

Four Rutgers players have been named All-Americans by nationally recognized selection agencies. They are Paul Robeson, the late Homer Hazel, Bill Austin and Alex Kroll.

Robeson, recently honored by the University with an honorary degree as Doctor of Humane Letters, was the first Rutgers All-American and the third black athlete to be selected. Now 76 and living in Philadelphia, the internationally known actor and concert artist was named by Walter Camp in 1917 and 1918 but remains the only two-time honoree not inducted into the Hall of Fame. Robeson, named as an end, also played other positions on offense and defense and earned Scarlet letters in four sports. Academically, he was Phi Beta Kappa.

Hazel, a Hall of Famer who died in 1968, was selected in 1923 as an end and in 1924 as a fullback by Walter Camp. An all-round performer, Hazel played football at Rutgers only in those two seasons and was largely responsible for successive 7-1-1 records under Foster Sanford and Jack Wallace. Voted into the Hall of Fame in 1951, Hazel made his last public appearance at Rutgers at the Delaware game in 1967. (His visit in 1958 is recorded in a picture with Austin.)

Austin was named to the Associated Press' first All-America backfield in 1958 after captaining the Scarlet to an 8-1 record. Austin was a thrilling and exceptionally talented player and still owns the Rutgers total yardage marks for a game (305) and career (3,066). He is second on the career interception list with 13.

Kroll, a 1961 selection when he earned first team ranking on seven of nine nationally-named teams, distinguished himself as a blocker and leader in the second of two seasons he played at Rutgers. The Scarlet record for Kroll's years was 17-1, the last 12 wins coming in a row and bringing Rutgers its only undefeated season. Kroll captained the unbeaten, 9-0, 1961 squad.

Rutgers has met 94 college opponents in 105 years, winning 50.9% of those contests. The winning percentage for all games ever played is 51.6%. Rutgers played the first intercollegiate game of football against Princeton on Nov. 6, 1869 in New Brunswick. The most recent additions to the series records were Air Force and Tampa, both of which beat the Scarlet last year. Rutgers will face Hawaii in 1974 for the first time in history.

RUTGERS

The State University of New Jersey

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, is one of the major universities in this country with more than 40,000 students enrolled at its New Brunswick, Newark and Camden Campuses.

Designated a state university in 1945 by the New Jersey legislature, the school has grown to become the 16th largest in the nation and become more varied in its educational offerings (there are over 100 programs of study offered) and more active in research (during 1972-73 almost 15.5 million was spent on research and training).

This year, with a decrease in applications for college admission in some sectors of the country, Rutgers showed the largest increase in applications among all state universities and land grant colleges.

There are now more than 90,000 living alumni of whom more than 50,000 are residents of the Garden State. Slightly more than 90 per cent of the current co-educational enrollment resides in the state, so it is clear that Rutgers is fulfilling its mission as a state university under the direction of Dr. Edward J. Bloustein, the university's 17th president now in his third year.

Yet, as modern and progressive as the University is today, it can recall its founding as Queens College under a charter of England's King George III in 1766. During the subsequent 208 years, Rutgers has undergone many changes. One under the auspices of the Dutch Reformed Church, the school took its present name in 1825 from Colonel Henry Rutgers, a philanthropist. It became the Land Grant College of New Jersey in 1864, repealing at the time its church relationship.

Most of the early Rutgers students prepared for the ministry and teaching, but today virtually every conceivable course of study is available.

In New Brunswick and neighboring Piscataway where much of the campus is located, are more than 16,000 students.

In New Brunswick-Piscataway, the undergraduate complex is comprised of four multi-purpose colleges — Rutgers, Livingston, Cook and Douglass — and two professional schools — The College of Engineering and The College of Pharmacy. Cook College includes the academic areas formerly presented through the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

Scarlet Knight football players may take classes at any of these colleges or professional schools.
